

Grifols Engineering Internship Program

Grifols is a global healthcare company whose mission is to improve the health and well-being of people. Our three divisions –Bioscience, Diagnostic and Hospital–develop, produce and market our innovative products and services to medical professionals in more than 100 countries.

We are committed to fostering an environment that creates continuous learning opportunities and encourages professional development and growth. As a company devoted to improving the health and well-being of people, we are looking for talented professionals worldwide.

Would you like the opportunity of starting or developing your professional career within a multinational and family environment? If so, then this is your chance!

At Grifols, with our internship program, we offer you the possibility of living a unique experience where you will be able to learn and grow professionally.

What is our internship program like?

We want to offer you the chance of living an enriching and unique experience which will prepare you for your future professional career.

Our Internship Program will last from 6 and up to 18 months, and during this time you will be part of a professional and dynamic team working towards the development of real projects and specific goals. You will have the opportunity to participate and cooperate in our daily assignments while being able to put to practice your knowledge and skills.

Who can participate?

Students coming from any university, business school or institution allowing you to arrange a “Convenio Universidad-Empresa”.

Requirements

Currently studying in the field of Engineering. This program will allow trainees to get experience in departments such as production, maintenance, I+D and similar.

Willingness to learn.

Advanced level in English.

Able to be based in Parets del Vallés or Sant Cugat del Vallés.

Motivation for developing a professional career in the pharmaceutical industry.

What do we offer?

We offer our interns the possibility of getting a professional experience within a dynamic and professional environment, financial support for studies and daily free lunch.

If you have willingness to learn and are looking for a great start in your career, don't look any further and get in touch with us today!